THOUGHT a COMMENT

How Can I Study

A young man asked a scholar the question, "How can I learn to study?" This is an inquiry that all might well make, for any life that is to succeed must know how to study, and be master of the work in which he is engaged. Then too there is the joy of knowing how to handle a problem. This mastery of study does not apply to books and school lessons only but to each and every problem, connected with life, whether in business, school, government or home making. The failures in most part are due to lack of knowledge as to how to approach a problem and study it.

The purpose of an education is manifold but we can assert, safely that to know how to use the mind in application to a problem is fundamental in education. The reason some men of affairs succeed in spite of the lack of a school education is, that they either intuitively know how or they have acquired the knowledge of studying a problem.

There is a confusion between studying and reading. Some people think that because they have read on a subject and by memory are able to repeat the contents of the subject therefore they have studied that subject. In a sense they have studied but in a larger and deeper sense they have not studied it. To study is to relate the ideas to their constituent contracts. To turn every side of the theme over as one would look at a jewel. To get at the roots of its growth and the soil in which it flourishes the best.

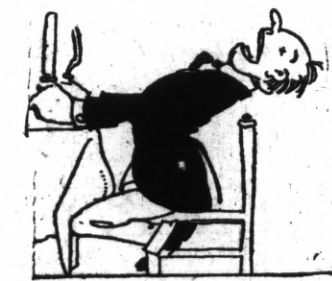

In talking to a young man some time ago who was making the real estate business his career, I happened to ask him if he were studying transportation, sanitation, and mass psychology in relation to group development. He looked at me in amazement and asked me if I thought he was going to be a professor. That young man hasn't the first glimpse of how to approach his life's problem in a big way. Of course he can always dabble in buying and selling lots and make a little money, but he will never put over any far-reaching deals. Transportation and sanitation and mass psychology are profound elements in great deals as witnessed by constructive builders of communities.

A young man working in a bank with me thirty years ago, spent his evenings studying every phase of banking as related to farm and railroad credits and today he is one of the great bankers of America. Anybody can loan money on a mortgage of proved soundness at six per cent, but to study the unseen elements entering into the development of credits requires work, concentration and sacrifice of personal pleasures for a while.

The mind learns to respond quickly in the habit of study if we hold it to the process. Witness your successful men.

TO INVESTIGATE THE NAMING OF STATE OFFICERS AS DRY AGENTS

TWO LOCAL MEN ATTACKED IN BUILDERS WAR

THIRTY RIOTERS ATTACK 2 MEN AT WORK HERE

Albert J. Waring and T. C. Pimm are Severely Beaten by Mob Riding in Six Machines

Richmond police are continuing their efforts to apprehend members of the gang of thirty who early yesterday afternoon attacked Albert J. Waring, 319 Forty-second street, and T. C. Pimm, 315 Forty-second street, while they were at work on a construction job on McLaughlin avenue, just south of Barrett avenue.

According to the report made to the police the gang in six automobiles drove up to the place where the two men were working and rushing from the machines demanded: "are you union men?"

Before either of the men had an opportunity to reply the gang set upon them and pommelled them with their fists, according to the report made to the police.

A. P. Hill, 459 McLaughlin street, who saw the riot called the police, but the rioters had fled before the detachment of police arrived. The victims were able to obtain several of the numbers of the machines, in which the rioters were riding and these have been turned over to the police, who are checking them in an effort to learn the identity of the drivers.

This is the first outbreak of the builders war in Richmond and it is believed by the authorities that the attackers came from out of town. Neither Pimm nor Waring was able to say from which direction the machines came, but it is said that they drove toward Oakland after the attack.

Neither of the two victims received serious injury and after the attack they were able to go on with their work.

LONG BEACH, May 25.—The California Pharmaceutical association in session here today put itself on record as opposed to druggists selling alcoholic liquors.

Many Dead and Lost In Volcanic Eruption

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—Advices received tonight from Tokyo by the Japanese American Japanese language newspaper published here say 150 persons lost their lives in the volcanic eruption of Mt. Tokachi and that three others were injured.

Three hundred houses were destroyed by the eruption.

RECOVER BODIES

TOKIO, WEDNESDAY, May 26.—Rescuers searching for victims of Mt. Tokachi report recovery of 105 bodies. Twenty other victims of the eruption have been taken to hospitals suffering from serious injury. Many others are still missing.

Forty school children are included among the dead. The children are said to have been engulfed while returning to their homes from school.

Twenty Injured in Street Car Wreck

(By Universal Service)
BOSTON, May 25.—Twenty persons were injured, eight of them seriously, late today, when an elevated trolley car was rammed by another car. "The first car plunged into an automobile repair truck hurling two men to the ground.

Red Cross Meet Is Opened By The President

Mankind Must Achieve Rather Than Wait for Peace Chief Executive States

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, May 25.—Mankind must achieve peace by positive action rather than by waiting for peace to be imposed upon it, President Coolidge declared today in addressing the opening session of the Pan American Red Cross conference.

Coming when the Nations of the world are assembled at Geneva to curb armaments, the President's words were interpreted as a direct challenge to old world diplomacy to meet present day needs.

Mr. Coolidge laid particular emphasis upon the distinction to be made between diplomacy which merely deals negatively with differences between Nations and that which deals positively with human problems.

The inference was plain that no superimposed international machinery can effect world peace until the peoples themselves develop a spirit of "mutual understanding, sympathy and tolerance."

The President said: "In recent years there has been much discussion of international relations, and indeed, the need for such discussion is apparent."

"The application of scientific discovery to communications, transportation, to industry, has bound the countries of the world together to a degree our forefathers could never have anticipated."

"The interchange of the products of agriculture and of industry, the universal dissemination and interaction of ideas, the progress of scientific research, has profoundly revolutionized not only the routine of life in every country."

To Investigate Sale of Offices

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, May 25.—Aiming a death blow at the "partonage ring" alleged to be selling federal offices in southern states to fill campaign chests and pockets of political bosses a subcommittee of the House Judiciary committee today voted to recommend a sweeping investigation.

Heat Wave Hits Middle West

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, May 25.—A hot wave that has been dripping the upper Mississippi valley moved eastward. Temperatures ranged from 90 to 100 degrees.

Chicago escaped the parching heat when winds continued to blow off Lake Michigan. The temperature in Chicago was down to 49 degrees last night and 70 degrees was the highest during the day.

J. N. Long and Wife Leave for Long Tour

Postmaster and Mrs. James N. Long left this morning on an automobile tour which will carry them across the continent. Since making their trip several years ago when they passed through the majority of the states, it has been their ambition to visit the remaining states in the Union.

On the present trip they will visit the Grand Canyon and cross the southern states to Florida. On the return trip they will stop off in Colorado and Utah, visiting the Zion National park in southeastern Utah.

Mears went around the world in 1913 in 35 days, 21 minutes, 35 4-5 seconds. Goldstrom hopes by using the airplane, whenever it will be possible to do so, to lower this mark to 31 days.

President Determined To Enforce Prohibition Law And Abides By Decision To Use State Officers

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Determined that prohibition shall be enforced to the limit, President Coolidge today decided that his sweeping executive order authorizing the addition of 10,000 local and state police to the national dry forces shall be carried into effect despite the protest from the four corners of the country that has hit Washington like a tornado.

The pronouncement was made following one of the longest sessions which President Coolidge has held with his cabinet. Hardly had the announcement fallen from the lips of the presidential spokesman when Senator William Cabell Bruce of Maryland arose in the senate and declared with a warning:

"There is sure to be bloodshed if this order is enforced."

With unabated fury the battle raged in the capitol today, developing into the greatest crisis confronting the Coolidge Administration and the most serious contest over state's rights since the relative issue produced the civil war.

Representative John Phillip Hill of Maryland, following a night of conference among the wet forces, introduced in the house a resolution to abrogate the Coolidge executive order by making it illegal for local and state police to be mustered into the Federal service, under any and all circumstances.

The adverse sentiment of California, where the new dry army is to be initiated under the Coolidge order, was presented to congress for the first time when Representative Charles F. Curry declared in a speech that all efforts of the government to invoke it there will prove futile.

Not only does the California constitution prohibit induction of state officers into the national service, Curry declared, but public sentiment would arise against the move.

"The order is an unconstitutional as it is unjust," Curry declared. "It is as vicious as it is wrong. It is utterly contrary to the fundamental principles of our government and it must not be permitted to stand."

"If it is not repealed by the executive branch of the government, then we must take steps to throw it out, hook, line and sinker."

So furious did the battle wage

FORTY-ONE ARE KILLED DURING MORO UPRISING

Constabulary Uses Artillery to Break Down Fort of Moros During Capture

(By Universal Service)
MANILA, May 25.—Forty-one Moros and one Filipino constabularyman were killed in a battle which resulted in the capture of one of the largest Moro fortresses in Lanao province, according to advices received here late today. The constabulary used cannon to reduce the fortress, the advices indicated.

OFFICER CONVICTED
MANILA, May 25.—Lieutenant Nugent, Filipino constabulary officer, was convicted today of the killing five years ago of the Moro leaders who testified before the Wood-Forbes commission against independence.

After the hearing Nugent and his constabulary hunted down the Moro leaders and, according to the charges against him, killed them. This incident has been held mainly responsible for the present aroused condition of the Moros.

Governor General Leonard Wood is scheduled to sail for Moroland within the next twenty-four hours in an effort to bring about peace.

Blast Reveals 500 Gallon Still

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—With a roar that rocked the neighborhood, a 500 gallon still in the basement of the International hotel on lower Kearney street blew up today disclosing the largest liquor distilling plant uncovered in this city since the advent of prohibition. The operators of the still fled before the arrival of the police.

10,000 gallons of wine barreled and ready for shipment were discovered in the place.

Building Inspector Has Narrow Escape

How if the hole in the floor had been larger? City Building Inspector E. E. Grow might have fallen ten feet and would have sustained serious injuries. But the hole was small and the building inspector did not fall very far, so his injuries are slight but uncomfortable.

The building inspector made a tour of inspection of the improvements being made at the Point theatre on Washington avenue. Unknown to him a carpenter sawed one of the boards of the floor. Grow stepped on the board; the board snapped and Grow fell. A bruised leg was sustained by the building inspector.

Lost Boy Is Found At Home of Chum

Search for Edward Carroll, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Carroll of Clyde, ended when the boy, who had disappeared, was found asleep at the home of a chum, a short distance away from home.

When the lad failed to return home at 7 o'clock for dinner, his parents became uneasy and the search extending into nearby marshes was begun. Early yesterday morning Constable William Ludricks of Bay Point found the missing boy. Carroll told his parents that he had decided to remain all night with his chum and had forgotten to notify them.

Charles Hoover of Cloverdale was a business visitor here yesterday.

Motorcyclists Use Giant Road As a "Speedway"

The Giant road is a wonderful speedway. Motorcyclists soon found that out and for some time they have been using this road as a speedway, staging exciting races every Sunday and holiday.

For some time motorcyclists have been sending in complaints to the police about the way the motorcyclists are speeding so the state traffic police decided to stop this nuisance.

Early on Sunday two state officers patrolled the highway, in search of the speeding men. Louis Delabianos, of Berkeley, was the first man to be caught at this past time.

According to the arresting officers Delabianos started from the intersection at the Pottery works and started speeding to the end of the "track," the gates of the Carquinez golf club.

Immediately traffic officer Charles Nissen gave his mount the gas and started off in pursuit. By leaps and bounds his speedometer registered first 30, then 40, 50, 55, 60, 65, 70, 75, 80, 85 and then his strenuous and Delabianos slowed to a stop to receive his ticket.

The case was immediately taken to court yesterday morning a state officer went in search of Delabianos who was found as he was sitting down to his breakfast.

He was immediately fined $100 and the alleged speeder is cited to appear before Justice John Roth.

Monday, May 31, will be a legal holiday in the city of Richmond and all stores will be closed, according to an announcement made by the Merchants Association.

Every store is asked to fly the national colors on this day and also on Sunday in observance of Memorial Day.

All shoppers are warned to do their shopping early on Saturday for that day gives promise of being one of the busiest days in the year.

BROKEN LIGHTS PROVE COSTLY

Pleading guilty to a charge of possessing liquor, Frank Favarola of Pittsburg, was fined $300 yesterday, when he appeared before Judge Wade Moore in Martinez.

A traffic officer stopped Favarola, who was driving a truck, because the headlight of the truck were not lighted. Upon investigation the officer found four ten gallons kegs of whiskey in the machine. He immediately placed Favarola under arrest and confiscated the liquor.

QUESTION RIGHT OF PRESIDENT TO ISSUE ORDER

Investigation Follows Storm of Protest Against Order Naming Officers as Dry Agents

WASHINGTON, May 25.—As a smashing climax to the storm of protest that has swept the Nation over President Coolidge's executive order authorizing the recruiting of an army of 10,000 dry agents from State and Municipal officers, the United States Senate today unanimously ordered a formal and immediate investigation of the constitutionality of the order with a view to legislative action to nullify the drastic ukase.

This action came within three hours after it had been announced at the White House that the President would "stand pat" on the order.

Spokesman, however, indicated that the order might be modified in the light of future experience if the application of it proved to be oppressive.

Further indication of doubt and misgiving in administration circles came from the Department of Justice early tonight when Attorney General Sargent hinted that the order would be modified. He declined to say in what respect.

In reiterating his contention that the order is legal and constitutional, Sargent hurled another bombshell by declaring that the authority of the governors of the various States would not be necessary to induce local and State officers into the Federal Prohibition service. If local officers volunteer for the Federal service, Sargent holds that they can be promptly enrolled and endowed with Federal authority.

Prohibition Director James E. Jones, however, announced that no commission to State or local officers had yet been issued, because of the storm of protest, administration officials refused to give any indication of when the order will be put into effect in California, where it was originally intended to give it the first trial.

In view of Sargent's statement, Congress may drive through a bill prohibiting the Federal Government from employing State officials as dry agents.

Senator Albert D. Cummins of Iowa, chairman of the Judiciary committee, announced that the investigation would be begun immediately, after it has been determined whether public hearings will be held.

The resolution ordering the investigation, introduced yesterday by Senator William H. King, of Utah, a dry Democrat, was pressed today by Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, and Senator Dingham, Republican of Connecticut, sponsored an amendment looking to legislation on the subject of the order.

"Resolved, that to enable the Senate to determine whether legislation is advisable or necessary the committee on the Judiciary be directed to inquire and advise the Senate as to whether the executive order, dated May 8, and published May 31, relating to the appointment of State officers as agents and officials of the Federal Government to enforce the National Prohibition Act, is within the legal powers of the executive."

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

An enumeration of the reasons for advertising has recently been given out. There are eight reasons advanced, but there are many others, of course. However, here are eight that are very splendid and highly convincing, as given in a southern newspaper.

Newspaper reading is a universal daily habit; newspaper advertising, therefore, reaches each day virtually all who buy.

Newspaper advertising is the life blood of local trade because it touches all consumer sources in every community. It gives the national advertiser the same opportunity for complete consumer appeal in any locality.

Newspaper advertising cuts selling costs because it entails no waste in locality of circulation. Manufacturers use it to cover markets where it is profitable to do business.

Newspaper advertising insures quick, thorough and economical dealer distribution and dealer goodwill, because retailers are willing to sell products advertised direct to their own consumers.

Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers to tell where their products may be bought.

Newspaper advertising can be started or stopped over night, can be prepared between days to meet certain developments and to obtain immediate results.

Newspaper advertising enable manufacturers to check advertising results and costs in every market which they enter.

Newspaper advertising costs less than any other kind.

The merchant or other business man who is not taking advantage of the opportunities offered by newspaper advertising to boost his business now will still be facing readjustment problems when his competitor is back on a normal business plane.

WORK, NOT LUCK, COUNTS

There is an adage that "There is luck in leisure" but there is no truth in that adage and there is as little truth in the preachment of many failures that "work and merit don't mean anything anymore; the lucky man will win anyway."

Of course there have been battles won by luck in which the better man lost, but they are the proverbial exceptions which prove the rule and are so outnumbered by incidents the reverse as to be unworthy of notice. Luck-won successes are accidents. Work-won successes are incidents. Accidents always attract more attention than incidents for the same reason that normal human beings, which are incidents, pay money to see freaks of nature, which are accidents. To depend on luck is to play blind man's bluff among the laws of nature and of man.

These laws, when studied carefully, seem to prove that in the long run the best man wins the best place, and personal merit does succeed. Evidences to the contrary are merely the flips of chance.

Luck smiles on those who take off their coats, put their shoulders to the wheel, and plug away at the task. Fortune favors men who are not afraid of dreary, irksome drudgery. Luck climbs no Everest. Luck transmutes no cataract into electricity. Lucy is never a ladder from the earth of mediocrity to the heaven of achievement.

One of the pressing needs of the day is a closed season for suckers.

May the bride and the bridegroom be affinities.

Some Pages from American History

By VICTOR MORGAN

VICTORY AT SEA

England with her magnificent navy of a thousand warships acted as though she owned the ocean. We had twelve, chief among them the "Constitution," with the brave Captain Isaac Hull in command.

Captain Hull, while cruising off the coast of Nova Scotia, happened to fall in with the British man-of-war, "Guerriere." A fight began without delay. Twenty minutes later the British ship surrendered, helpless and sinking.

Captain Hull brought his prisoners from the Guerriere to Boston. Ringing cheers greeted the Constitution, and henceforth it was known as "Old Ironsides." Hull received a gold medal from Congress for the victory and his men received fifty thousand dollars in prize money.

It was the first time in history that an English frigate had hauled down her colors to an American. But before the war was over it had happened often. Out of fifteen such battles we won twelve.

The British, however, were still occupying Detroit, and it took a conflict on Lake Erie to get them to abandon the place.

In the autumn of 1813, Commander Perry settled on the shore of the lake, and with the help of a gang of ship carpenters, built five vessels from green timber cut in the wilderness back of them. He added four more vessels, and though his little fleet carried fewer guns and men than the British, he captured the enemy's fleet.

Before the fight began Perry hoisted over his vessel a flag bearing the words, "Don't give up the ship." Perry's ship was cut to pieces and her decks covered with dead and dying men. Perry realized he would be defeated if he stayed where he was, so he took his twelve-year-old brother, jumped into a boat and ordered the crew to pull for the Niagara. Though the British shot broke the oars to pieces and young Perry's cap was torn with bullets, the boat reached the Niagara and Perry gained the battle.

Perry wrote to his general, "We have met the enemy, and they are ours." The victory gave us control of Lake Erie.

TWO BILLION DOLLARS - U. S. YEARLY SMALL-HOME BUILT

By S. W. STRAUS,
President American Society for Thrift.

IT is of importance to note the vast amount of home construction now going on in this country. Our building program is proceeding at the rate of about $6,500,000,000 a year, about one-half of which is for residential types.

Of the $3,000,000,000 or more spent for residences, the buildings and loan associations last year financed 510,000 new homes at a cost of $1,760,000,000. Small homes also were financed through banks, insurance companies and other agencies, including private enterprise, so that this country's home ownership program is advancing at the rate of more than $2,000,000,000 a year—a figure that makes us easily the foremost nation in home-ownership.

It would be hard for anyone to say that Americans are not thrifty in the face of these facts.

The development of the suburban communities is, of course, responsible for a large amount of this home-building. Good roads and the automobile are playing their part. But the automobile, good roads and the manifold advantages of suburban life would be insufficient to make for the successful upbuilding of these communities if it were not for the thrift instincts of the people.

LESSON IN HOME DRESSMAKING

A Pantie Frock with Shoulder Yoke, Quaint Little Pockets and Other Details to Give it Originality

ALTHOUGH the lines of children's frocks are generally the same, a few well-considered details mark the new styles as original and interesting. The pretty model pictured may be made of damask. It is accompanied by side-closing bloomers of self-material. The front is gathered to a square yoke, a two-piece collar finishing the neck. This feature may be omitted if preferred. Medium size requires 2½ yards 36-inch material.

Blo-mer Dress in Damask

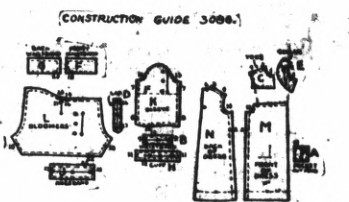

Be sure to place the various sections of the pattern on the material as shown in the cutting guide, and then mistakes will be impossible. Mark every notch, each perforation, and carefully study each symbol. Then put the sections together as numbered.

Sew the front of the dress to the yoke, then slash down through the center-front. Close underarm and shoulder seams, stretching the front shoulder edge to fit the back. Sew collar to neck, and close seam of sleeve and seam of wristband. Sew wristband to long sleeve, fold through center of large perforations, and fold remaining edge over the seam. Sew sleeve in armhole. Pin the sleeve in armhole, easing in any fullness, then baste and sew.

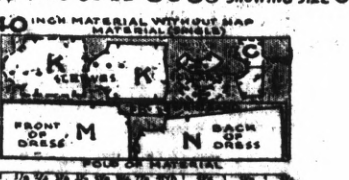

Face the pocket, then turn over the point, and tack. Arrange on front of dress.

Make the bloomers, carefully following directions. They are gathered at the top and attached to a plain waistband, the lower edges being gathered and attached to a kneeband. If preferred, the kneeband may be of material in a contrasting color.

Let the embroidery on collar and pocket complete the details of the dress.

BROKEN HEARTS of HOLLYWOOD

"BROKEN HEARTS of HOLLYWOOD" with Louise Oresser is a Warner picturization of this novel

SYNOPSIS
Among the passengers on the Los Angeles Limited is a mysterious, solitary girl traveler of surpassing beauty. The train enters a beautiful valley in Iowa where the girl, an orphan, experiences an uncanny feeling of being "at home," although she has never seen the place before. At Centipede, pretty village in the Valley, the train stops for water. While exercising on the platform the lone beauty witnesses what is evidently a wedding party send-off. Unaccountably thrilled when her glance meets his fine eyes the girl traveler slips in rebounding and falls backward into the arms of the handsome bridegroom.

"You're here, in upper eleven," she heard Aloysius say to someone, afar off and yet in her ear. Eleven? That was the section in which she occupied the lower. But what matter? The chief question now in her wool-gathering mind was—had, or had not, someone stepped on her toe? Before she could focus her sleepy faculties coherently upon the problem there came an accident that both awoke and convinced her. A lurch—and she felt herself so squashed into the seat by a great weight that she believed she would become part of the upholstery pattern. Highly indignant at such clownishness, she opened her eyes to show it and her mouth to tell it—

Her heels were on a top step, her head level with a lower one, and there was an alluring suggestion of pinkish cream where her brief skirt had slipped back from the knees of her rigidly outspread legs. Yet, despite the awkward strain of her position, her tense, frightened body felt so comfortably safe in the strong arms that had caught her that the lone girl traveler aborted the scream in her throat and laughed shyly instead.

She became conscious, while being gently set right side up again and steadied on Aloysius' footstool, of something more than passing concern in the darkest, deepest, nicest pair of male eyes which had ever caused her romantic heart to skip a beat. She was conscious, too—ominously so—of a hostile flickering of jealous feminine eyes. Cat green eyes! Oh, brides will be so silly about their newly caught fish! "It's—thank you!" the strange girl murmured, as sedately as she could with an insufficiency of breath, straight into the handsome eyes. But there was an instinctively supercilious fund of ease in the impersonal glance she cast swiftly over the gaping crowd and rested ever so casually for an instant on a certain vexed face. The locomotive whistle was now sounding the four hoarse grunts that conventionally recall rear brakemen from their red-flag vigil. All around was the stir of departure. Up the steps the solitary traveler went, unfailing this time, guided and propelled by a professionally impatient black hand and a chivalrous white one. She knew it was positively immoral to be so audacious this way by the earnest eyes of another woman's bridegroom. But immoral or not, she could not stop the strange, voiceless whispering in her inner consciousness of a coincidence between the mysterious sense of homesickness that had gripped her imagination in this Valley and the sturdy hands that had gripped her plumping body. Heavens, what insane notions were racing through her mind! She felt her face burning and was glad to gain the haven of her seat, midway down the green-carpeted aisle, safe from the curious eyes of the other passengers. She hoped there were no mind readers amongst them; her thoughts were so shamelessly wanting in respectability! His eyes were—oh, she hoped the honeymooners would not sit near her. She told herself she really had no interest in where they were going to sit—wouldn't even look. At first she thought to read; but printed words would offer scant anchorage to chain her glances down from his haunting eyes. She would take a nap.

So she snuggled down into a corner of the seat and resolutely closed her eyes, double-proofing them by covering them with the slim fingers of the arm she rested upon the window sill. It was easy enough to drowse here in the car warmed by the wine of late afternoon sunlight, with the desultory hum of voices inside and the muffled shouts outside. Even a long, last warning note of the locomotive was soothing. Above all, that feeling of being "at home" remanited her in a peaceful reverie. There came a gently accelerating sense of movement. She yawned—dozed.

berths with honeymooners," she concluded desperately. The puzzled light slowly receded from his eyes, and in its place shone a smile. You could tell from this that the boy's mental processes were the sort described by Alger, favorite juvenile novelist of a past generation, as "slow but sure." "I'm afraid I rudely woke you out of a pleasant dream," he grinned. The lone little girl traveler felt very much at ease after that boyish grin. Felt, too—at home! "Aren't you the happy bridegroom I saw on the platform with his fair bride?" A grin would hardly serve him now; the young fellow threw back his head and laughed. "That was my sister whom you saw with me. She's awfully clumsy, is Flo—always has been. Jealous of her big brother, 'know. Maybe that's what gave you the idea we were married. Gee, that's rich! I'll have to tell it to Flo and Mother in my first letter."

But of course the girl was not listening now; her ears had concluded their interest when he spoke the word "sister," and now her eyes alone were critically "taking him in." All in all, from the well-shined tip of his sensible shoes to the glossy black of his hair he was quite the best looking and most likeable boy she had ever met. And his eyes—at once earnest and kindly and friendly. Sound and clean cut, obviously, was the stock he sprang from; "home folks" was symbolized all over him. "Say," he declared, "we're evidently going to be partners on this trip so we might as well get acquainted. He stuck out his hand ingeniously.

"My name's Hal Chutney," he announced. "Centipede's my home town."

"My name is Betsy Ann Terwilliger, and I come from Hoosac Falls, Massachusetts."

"Glad to meet you, Miss Terwilliger. I'm going to Hollywood," proudly.

"And I'm going to Hollywood, too!" just as proudly—and thrilled!

THE SCULPTOR AND HIS MODELS

The photographer caught Duane Champlain and Miss Irene Lingo at work in the sculptor's studio at the Sequi-Centennial International Exposition grounds. The exposition opens June 1 and commemorates the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Miss Lingo is a well known Philadelphia dancer and has been called the city's "Benda girl" because of her striking similarity to the heads drawn by the well known artist. Mr. Champlain is at work on a section of one of the large sculptures which will ornament the exposition grounds. The dancer was "on her toes" when the camera came into view.

Mother of Famous Evangelist is on Verge of Collapse

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—In the room at the Ocean View Hotel at Santa Monica occupied by her daughter, Aimee Semple McPherson, before she was lost in the surf last Tuesday Mrs. Minnie Kennedy late today knelt and prayed that the ocean give up the body.

Mrs. Kennedy's appearance at the beach was dramatic. It was just seven days ago to the minute after the noted evangelist last was seen alive.

Wan and on the verge of a breakdown she held in her hands Aimee's Bible and sought to ease her troubled mind by reading passages underscored by her daughter.

For more than an hour the mother maintained her watch and prayed. Then as though giving up hope of witnessing whatever visitation she may have expected Mrs. Kennedy slipped quietly away to the Angelus Temple headquarters where the night patrol squads were being organized for the beach search.

A heavy strand of reddish brown hair picked up at Venice beach today was declared by Mrs. Kennedy to be not of the same color or texture as that of her daughter.

HOLEPROOF OF ALL FINE HOSIERY OFFERS

5 Unique Fashion Features. Plus 31 new Paris colors.

NOTE: Holeproof's 5 famous style points carefully. Together they safeguard you against imperfect hose. In style—in sheer richness of beauty, this hosiery stands supreme. Through special features smartness is increased to an extraordinary degree. And Holeproof styles are accepted as authoritative.

A few manufacturers of fine hosiery may offer you some of these features, but not one can give them all. By them fashion tells you to judge silk hosiery.

(1) Exquisite clearness.—In sheer chiffons, clearness comes only with the use of uniformly even thread. The lack of it in cheaper silk causes unsightly shadow rings. So, at greater cost, Holeproof selects China silk, judged finest of all oriental grades.

(2) Correct Paris shades. Paris authorities select the newest colors. A unique scientific dyeing process keeps them clear and bright. Our anti-fade treatment protects from fading.

(3) Superlative transparency. Even in the heavier weights there is no cloudiness, no streaks. First, the silk is specially tested, then it undergoes the special scientific Holeproof treatment.

(4) No loose ends. Loose threads mar appearance. So Holeproof carefully trims the inside of each stocking by hand.

(5) No imperfections. Style vanishes with imperfections. And here Holeproof safeguards you by nine separate inspections. It is a fact that few other fine hose are so uniformly perfect.

Every Holeproof number has this five-fold fashion safety. Every color is new—every style is faultlessly and fashionably correct.

San Pablo School Board Re-Elects All Its Teachers

Re-electing for the coming year all of the present teachers, the school board of the San Pablo school met last night at the school.

Among the matters decided by the board was the bonus of $50 to be given to those teachers who attended the teachers' institute during the summer months and who gain at least four points. On of these points must be in educational work.

The board recognized the necessity for a class for backward children but feel that at the present time that there is neither the room nor the finances to make this needed improvement in the school curriculum.

During the summer vacation, the board plans to repair the playground equipment and make such repairs as are urgent at this time.

As the school board is liable for damages in cases of injuries to children making use of the playground equipment, and the state law permits the board to insure itself against such damages and to defray the expenses out of the school funds, the San Pablo board last night decided to avail themselves of this safeguard.

Commencement exercises will be held in the school on June 3. Arrangements are being made to secure a speaker for the exercises.

Olney Buys Stock Of Variety Store; Sales Start Today

C. C. Olney, proprietor of The Fair, has purchased the entire stock of the Richmond Variety store at 529 Macdonald avenue, according to an announcement made by Olney yesterday.

The stock will be placed on sale today at the original store.

Due to the fact that the sale was completed yesterday, some of the stock will probably not be marked in time, but the sale will begin today and last for four days.

As the present lease on the building expires Saturday night, the stock must be sold by that time and many exceptional bargains for money-saving will be found among the various articles placed on sale.

The goods will not be transferred to The Fair, but will be placed on sale at the present location of the Variety store on Macdonald avenue.

The SESQUICENTENNIAL
INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION
JUNE FIRST TO 1926 DECEMBER FIRST

This is a reproduction of one of the new official Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition posters. The exposition, which opens in Philadelphia June 1 and continues to December 1, commemorates the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The artist, Dan Smith, has caught the thought underlying the real purpose of the exposition—that of the United States welcoming to her shores the nations of the world which will participate in the big celebration.

Girl in Bathtub Party Says She Was Drunk On Night of Party and That Tub Contained Champagne

(By Universal Service)

EARL L. SHAUB
NEW YORK, May 25.—The high tide of Earl Carroll's gripping courtroom comedy was reached today when Joyce Hawley in colorful and effervescent phrases that she was drunk the night she disposed herself nude in the theatrical producer's bathtub, which she said was filled with wine.

Carroll is charged with perjury in Federal Court for telling the Grand Jury there was no intoxicating liquor or girls in the tub. Joyce's testimony of wine poured freely from her lips, ran down from the witness stand, sloped over into the jury box and trickled into the records.

"What was in the tub?" she was asked.

"A red liquid."

"Did you drink from the tub?"

"I did."

"Did you have any other drinks?"

"Yes, I got some from Jim Carroll and Chris Scarfe."

"What effect did those drinks have on you?"

"I became intoxicated."

"How were you dressed before the bath?"

"I wore a chemise and shoes."

"Did you take these off to get in the tub?"

"Yes, Mr. Carroll held up an opera cloak behind which I dropped what clothes I had on and got into the tub."

"Then what?"

"Mr. Carroll said: 'Step up, gentlemen and drink to this beautiful form.'"

The girl said she was in the tub for five minutes and then it was wheeled back stage.

"And then I began to cry," she added.

She said that Carroll reprimanded her for becoming intoxicated and told her to "keep her head or keep off the darn floor."

"When you say you were drunk do you mean you don't remember what happened?" she was asked.

"No, I was feeling pretty good."

Joyce, who is only seventeen, testified that her real name is Theresa Douglas and that she came from Chicago last July.

She made a far better witness for the government than she did for the defense on cross examination. Carroll's lawyers got very little satisfaction out of questioning her.

After testifying she had lived in hotels in Chicago she was asked what hotels.

"I don't want to tell," she replied.

"Why?"

"Oh, because."

"Well, why?"

"I don't feel like it."

She finally admitted she had lived at the Congress and Morrison hotels.

In reply to another question she asked:

"Why do you want to know, so much?"

"I want to know something about you."

"I guess you know enough now."

She admitted she had gone under several names, adding:

"I usually take any name that comes into my head."

After saying several times that she didn't understand the questions Carroll's attorneys were asking, she said:

"You ask so many silly questions you get me all bewildered up."

When asked what salary she is at present receiving, she replied:

"I am not going to tell you. I don't think it is any of your business."

"Did you ever receive any money for the bathtub stunt?" she was asked.

"I never did."

"Did you later commence suit for the $700 you said was promised you?"

"I did."

"Is it still pending?"

"I don't know."

Service Station To Open June 1

The opening of the new battery and service station now under course of construction at the corner of Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue by A. Kastolic will take place about June 1, according to an announcement made by the proprietor yesterday.

A full line of accessories, tires and batteries will be carried at the new establishment and Kastolic will move his present vulcanizing, battery recharging and repairing plant from its present location, 311 Twenty-third street.

The shops nearing completion are modern in every detail. Workmen are at present laying the sidewalks and it is expected that everything will be in readiness for the opening June 1.

Chamber Directors Will Meet Today

An important business meeting will be held by the Board of Directors of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce at noon today, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Helen Kingsbury, acting secretary of the chamber. A full attendance is requested by President P. M. Sanford. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 12:15.

CHICKIE FAMOUS DOG IS DEAD

Chickie, a German shepherd dog, owned by Fireman Louis Willett of Station No. 1, and well known throughout the city for her ability to perform tricks, died Monday afternoon. The dog had been treated from an Oak and dog hospital where she had been treated for a skin disease and was apparently in good health, but a few hours later she dropped dead.

Veterinarians summoned from Oakland held an autopsy and found that death was caused by a growth over the heart.

Willett had spent several months in training the dog. She has appeared on the stage several times and had a large repertoire of tricks. Willett was preparing another act in which she was to take part with a pair of trained doves.

BUILDING PERMITS

Three building permits were issued yesterday by City Building Inspector E. E. Grow.

A. J. Erick secured a permit to build a one-story frame cottage on the west side of Seventh street between Chanslor and Disby streets. The cost of the dwelling will amount to $2,500 and E. Hibby is the contractor.

Woman Check Passer Victimizes Three

A woman check passer operating between 2 and 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, victimized three Richmond merchants. The checks were drawn on the Twenty-third street branch of the Mercantile Trust company and were made payable to Mrs. J. Cameron, 517 Tenth street and were signed J. P. Jones. The woman asked that all of the small purchases obtained by her in cashing the checks be delivered to the address given. It was found that there is no such number, the address being a vacant lot.

Merchants were warned as soon as the forgery became known by Miss Marie Macdonald Jensen, Police Investigator, but no trace of the woman could be found. It is believed that she left the city immediately after cashing the checks.

Congress enacts about 300 laws a year.

The cost of the work will amount to $350.

A permit was issued to Carl Gehhardt to build a one-car garage costing $200 on the south side of Chanslor avenue between Twentieth and Twenty-first streets.

Bench Warrant Is Issued for Jack Dempsey

(By Universal Service)
MADERA, Calif., May 25.—A bench warrant was issued here today for the arrest of Jack Dempsey, when he failed to appear before Justice of the Peace Leroy Bailey, on a charge of speeding.

Dempsey and his chauffeur, Robert Gates, were arrested here last March, by Traffic Officer M. A. Harrison, who charged that "at times the champion's car was going 78 miles an hour."

Dempsey's wife, Estelle Taylor, film star, was in the car that was overtaken by Officer Harrison.

When the case was called for trial, Gates and Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter, the latter appearing for Dempsey, entered a plea of not guilty. Fitzsimmons posted $100 bail for Dempsey and asked for a continuance until May 25, stating, according to Judge Bailey that it would be impossible for the champion to come to Madera before that time.

When Dempsey failed to appear today, Judge Bailey forfeited the champion's bail and issued a bench warrant which will be served on Jack on his return to California.

Judge Bailey, in explaining the issuance of the warrant, said that he received a telegram from Dempsey last night. The champion, he said, requested that his case be continued until June 10.

"Because of a contract," "I refused Dempsey's request," said Judge Bailey, "because there was no apparent reason for any delay."

Dempsey is now in North Carolina.

The trial of Gates was started this afternoon. Work of selecting a jury was immediately begun. It is believed the trial will be concluded tomorrow.

The Madera prosecutor described Dempsey's case as "one of the most flagrant violations ever recorded in California."

A jail sentence is not unlikely in the event of the conviction of Gates. Residents of Madera pointed out that speed violators are seldom fined, but usually receive an official invitation to be the city's guest in jail.

Sue for Pedigree Of Valuable Dog

Charles M. Woodruff, Standard Oil employee residing in Albany, and Mrs. Woodruff, have filed a suit against A. W. Smith in an effort to force the latter to supply a new pedigree for a thoroughbred bull dog.

In his suit, Woodruff declares that he lost the original pedigree and the defendant refused to supply him with another one. Without the papers the canine cannot be registered and is therefore practically worthless, according to Woodruff. Attorney Tsar N. Calfee represents the plaintiffs.

Harold McCormick Undergoes Test

(By Universal Service)
BOSTON, May 25.—Harold S. McCormick, the Chicago millionaire who underwent an operation to have himself revitalized four years ago has recently undergone "a complete overhauling" at the Evans Memorial of the Massachusetts Homeopathic hospital here.

"Basal Metabolism" studies were performed on him involving an investigation of the vital functioning of his system, according to an official of the hospital.

So much pleased with the care given him at the hospital was the harvester millionaire that he is reported already to have contributed $10,000 toward the beautifying of the grounds about the Evans Memorial building.

NEW YORK YANKEES

The New York Yankees are going like a million dollars, the sports writers declare. They are pulling a reporter on the famous 1923 season when they won the league pennant and took the World Series from the Giants. Last year they went rotten—and why? Because Babe Ruth was terrible. Ruth is the life of the team and when he hits, the team hits and when he slumps the whole team slumps. Ruth slumped his sixteenth homer yesterday and his record is up to the famous one of 1921.

CALIFORNIA CREW

The California racing crew is holding stiff work-outs now in preparation for leaving for the East on Sunday to meet the Cornell crew there at New York. The California crew is given a high rating by the eastern dogesters, but the Washington crew, who will race at that time is given higher standings by the eastern fans.

HOFF

Charles Hoff, Norwegian vaulting champ has decided to return to his native country next week. This was his announcement made yesterday. Hoff was declared on the black list of the A. A. U. because he failed to compete in the matchings at San Francisco several weeks ago. Nothing to do here, he says, so he's going home where he will be appreciated.

GOLF

The first free school of golf will start at Chicago today at the county's free golf links. The students will be given the primary points of the game and not a cent will be charged them for the lessons. It is expected that the pros who are now giving lessons at high prices will raise a row. That's what America needs—more eighteen holes courses and better fairways.

BRUIN BASEBALL
Fifteen members of the University of California baseball team will leave for Honolulu today on the S. S. Maui to stage a series of games during their six weeks stay. Clint Evans is now managing the team. The Bruin team will play the army, native and college teams during their stay in the islands.

try, but also the character of international intercourse. Social organization seldom keeps pace with human activity in science, industry and commerce. The very complexity of modern governmental problems is appalling to those who share the responsibility.

"In the face of these increasing problems of international intercourse, cooperation of the peoples of the world must rest on a broad and fundamental basis. Mutual understanding, sympathy and intolerance must grow up among the peoples themselves and cannot be imposed upon them."

"In the past, the history of international relations has tended to be merely a summary of the differences between nations. Diplomatic intercourse has had as its chief purpose the settling of such differences."

"In the day to day routine of life, problems naturally arise in which national interests and opinions may seem to differ. Such differences should not lead us, however, to lose sight of the fundamental unity of the human problem."

"The ills of humanity are common to all nations and afflict us all alike. The chief factors conditioning human life and happiness are still natural rather than social in their character."

"Our chief problem, and the universal dilemma of the race is that of perfecting our adaption to our natural environment, of controlling the blind forces of nature to make them serve as instruments of human happiness, of circumventing the operations of natural causes destructive of our health, our vitality or our lives."

"As mankind learns to devote its efforts to these tasks, rather than to futile and internecine strife, international relationships will become increasingly cooperative and less controversial."

"We, the people of this country, have endeavored in the past to do our part in helping other na-

Tombstone Tourney To Be Played at Carquinez Course

A "tombstone" tournament will be staged by the Carquinez Golf club on Monday, May 31 at the club course. This tournament is a decided novel event for each player entered is given a certain number of strokes and he is also given a "tombstone," a long spike with a tag with the name of the player and the number of strokes allowed him written upon it.

When each player uses up his number of strokes he sinks the tombstone at the place where his ball landed at the final stroke. A check-up is then made and the man who went the farthest is declared the winner. Prizes are being offered for this event.

Solon Hurls Defi At New Dry Edict

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, May 25.—Moving to break down the order of President Coolidge, authorizing local officers to become national dry sleuths, Representative John Philip Hill, Republican of Maryland, today filed resolution in the House to specifically prevent such a policy from going into effect.

Efforts by Hill to have his resolution inserted in the Congressional Record were blocked by Rep. Albert Johnson of Washington.

Hill is chairman of an unofficial committee of the House on modification of the Volstead Act. Sixty members of Congress have banded themselves together in their wet bloc.

Throws Barrel of Liquor at Officer Pays Fine of $300

Sentence to pay fine of $300 or spend 300 days in jail was imposed by Justice of the Peace Wade Moore upon Alfred Richardson, 45, colored, who was arrested Sunday night by Traffic Officer F. H. Wilson and charged with possession of liquor.

Wilson approached Richardson's bay shore home and as he arrived at the door, Richardson hurled a five-gallon keg into the officer's arms, thinking that this would prevent the officer from placing a charge of finding liquor on the premises against him.

Mrs. Bernice Blackwell, wife of a colored minister in Pittsburg, and Leslie Davis, guests in Richardson's cabin at the time of the arrest, were dismissed by Justice Moore.

"We are bound by ties of blood and friendship to the countries of the old world and by the new."

"As a people we are consecrated to peace and to the friendly cooperation of all nations. The Red Cross has provided a means by which we may express this spirit."

"I hope and trust that this conference will mark a new advance in the cordial and helpful relations among the peoples of the Western Hemisphere in their relation to each other and in their relation to the old world."

Ace Hudkins is 5 lbs. Overweight

By SOL PLEX
(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, May 26.—Five pounds over weight and faced with the necessity of making 133 at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for his scheduled ten round bout with Tommy O'Brien at the Olympic auditorium, "Ace" Hudkins was still working hard today.

It seems the "Nebraska Wildcat" could not have chosen a more inopportune time to reverse his luck against O'Brien. The latter is in the finest condition of his career, while Hudkins has done part of his training in jail on a speeding charge.

Hudkins must win tomorrow evening or lose consideration as the outstanding lightweight contender of the Pacific coast. The Nebraska boxer is matched to box Ruby Goldstein in New York June 27, if he beats O'Brien and Goldstein, he will be in line for a title shot.

—RAGS WANTED—

Women Suspected In Bank Robbery Held by Police

(By Universal Service)
PORTOLA, (Plumas County), May 25.—While their two women companions are unconcerned and smiling in an expensive sedan automobile outside the Plumas County Bank here this morning, two bandits with drawn revolvers held up and bound the cashier, scooped up $9,163.22 from the counter, and drove away.

Tonight two women answering their descriptions in jail, the sedan is being held by the authorities, and posses of men under personal direction of Sheriff L. A. Braden are searching the mountainous wilds along the Beckwith-Beno highway for the robbers.

The hold-up, a thrilling chase over the mountain road in pursuit of the escaping automobile, and the arrest of the women, followed in rapid sequence. The authorities believe that the bandits jumped from the machine when the pursuit came too close, and that they are trapped in the mountains. Nevada officials are cooperating with the Plumas county sheriff in hunting the robber pair.

Gilbert Palmer, cashier, was alone in the bank when the two men entered at 9:20 this morning. When he came to the cashier's window he was confronted with a revolver and ordered to unlock the door into the banking room. He obeyed, and was bound and gagged. The gunman then took all the currency and silver in sight, and ran out.

With his confederate, who had been guarding the front door, he leaped into the car, crossed the bridge over Feather river, and swung at a terrific pace into the Beckwith-Beno road. Palmer released himself after 15 minutes of struggle and gave the alarm.

Five minutes later several auto loads of armed men were tearing along the highway in pursuit. Many witnesses, their attention attracted by the car's high speed, had noted the direction in which it went.

A half-hour drive at whirlwind speed brought the foremost pursuing machine, driven by Deputy Sheriff W. A. Stevenson, in sight of the fleeing car. It was overhauled and brought to a stop at Vinton, fourteen miles east of Portola, but the two women were its only occupants.

They told the authorities that a car the exact duplicate of their own had flashed passed them just west of Beckwith, and that they knew nothing of the hold up. They were believed to be mother and daughter. Portola residents, however, told Sheriff Braden that the women were seen here several days ago, presumably surveying the possibilities of the robbery. Both refused to talk, or to comment on statements by the Chief of Police of Reno, Nev., that they have been seen with two men answering the description of the bandits, in Virginia City, Nev.

The men for whom the posses were hunting tonight are an oddity-assorted pair, according to witnesses. One is a virtual giant, standing higher than six feet, while the other is five feet five inches in height and slight.

Jewish Editor Kills General

(By Universal Service)
PARIS, May 25.—General Petura, former leader of the Ukrainian Army was assassinated this afternoon by a Russian, Samuel Schwartzbart, who immediately surrendered to the police, declaring that his deed avenged Petura's wholesale butchery of innocent Jews.

Schwartzbart who is the editor of a small Jewish newspaper directed against anti-semites told the police he had observed Petura's movements during the past two weeks.

The general had been living in poverty in Paris and was in the habit of lunching daily in cheap students restaurants in the Latin quarters. Three days in succession Schwartzbart shadowed him but did not shoot feeling to kill the victims wife and daughter who accompanied him.

This afternoon, however Petura was alone. Schwartzbart stepped out from a group of students and shot five bullets from an automatic. The general roared once and then fell to the sidewalk. He was rushed to a hospital where he died at 6 o'clock. The assassin told the police:

"I have avenged hundreds of innocent Jewish women and girls whom he violated in the Ukraine."

The revival meetings which have been held at the El Cerrito Community Methodist church came to a close Sunday and the officers are very pleased at the attendance and interest taken in the meetings during the stay of Dr. J. W. Mahood and his daughters, Ruth and Etta, who left Monday morning for a brief rest at Pacific Palisades in Southern California. Their next engagement is for a tent meeting in Palo Alto.

El Cerrito Wants Rural Mail Routes From Local Office

City officials of El Cerrito will make an effort to have a rural mail route from the El Cerrito postoffice instead of out of the Berkeley postoffice, according to the action of the trustees Monday when Charles Zimmerman instructed City Clerk Alice Morris and City Attorney Wilbur S. Pierce to obtain the necessary data on getting the new route.

The question was raised by Trustee Phil A. Lee who stated that petitions were being circulated in the hill district to obtain a rural route from the Berkeley postoffice and that he thought the city ought to make an effort to have rural routes established from the local postoffice as the growth of the city warranted El Cerrito having its rural delivery.

Antioch and Sherman Island Ferry Will Reduce Its Rates

The Antioch and Sherman Island Ferry (C. A. and H. F. Lauritzen) has filed reductions in its rates for the transportation of passengers and vehicles between Sherman Island and a landing three miles east of Antioch, on the route to points in central, eastern and northern California, effective June 20, 1926.

These reductions, which become effective automatically without action by the Railroad Commission, are as follows: Automobiles, from 75 cents to 40 cents; motor trucks, one ton or less, from 75 cents to 40 cents; motor trucks, over one ton in weight, from $1.00 to 75 cents; passengers, from 15 cents to 10 cents.

Brother Asks Letters In T. Duffy Estate

The third petition for letters of administration in the estate of Thomas Duffy of Richmond, was filed in the probate court in Martinez yesterday by Attorney Pierce and Carlson for Peter Duffy of San Francisco, a brother of the deceased. Prior to the filing of the petition, Public Administrator C. E. Daley and Patrick O'Marie, of San Francisco, each filed a petition for the estate, which is valued at $12,500. It is believed that the first two petitions will be dismissed and that Duffy's brother will take precedence over the others.

The estate of which $6,300 is in cash, will be divided among his two brothers and four sisters.
